PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The iris bloom was just a promise that summer would actually arrive. Now we are seeing a few daylilies in bloom and the amount of scapes coming is getting a daylily nut like me real excited. If the deer would just leave them alone it would help. Time to get out the liquid fence or some of the other preventative measures. So far it promises to be a great season. Remember we have the Regional coming up in St. Louis at the end of June then there is the flower show in July, and the plant sale and state fair are in August. It will all make for a great summer.

Bob McConnell

CMHS Show Preparation

The program for the meeting will focus on show entries. Daylily scape grooming and entering procedures will be reviewed. The design program will consider the use of accessories (Will you miss me when I'm gone?) and mechanics (Steady On!)

The club and public tour of local gardens is the day after the show, Sunday, July 11. Maps will be available at the show. Please consider putting your garden on tour.

CMHS Daylily Show, July 10, 2010

The daylily show is Saturday, July 10 at the Columbia Public Library. Entries will be received from 8 am to 9:30 am. Late entries arriving after 10 am will be entered for display only and will not be judged. All entries must be exhibited in unmarked clear green bottles furnished by the exhibitor. Entry tags and show schedules will be available at the June meeting. After the meeting they will be available at McConnell's Plantland. The show is open from 1-4 to the public, no admission charge. The title of the show is 'African Safari'. The design division titles in the all fresh (Tricolor) classes are 1. Congo: Jungle Trek 2. Zambia/Zimbabwe: Victoria Falls 3. Botswana: The Bush. The designer's choice class (choice of fresh/and dried material is titled 4. African Art and Textiles. Please call your entry in to either Debbie Nix 573-682-5806 or Charlene Larkin 875-5899 by July 4th. All tricolor eligible design classes must be filled in order to award a tricolor ribbon, and daylilies must be dominant in all designs. Stay tuned for information on the club sponsored photo contest.
